Missouri law requires insurance to cover therapy for children with autism. Children with other disabilities do not get this coverage. Support this legislation so all children with developmental disabilities can get insurance coverage for their medically necessary therapies!

Nathan is 11-years-old and has a genetic disorder. In 2012, his family moved from rural Missouri to Columbia, MO, so he could get the therapy and educational supports he needed. Even with this move, Nathan was not able to access the appropriate amount of speech and physical therapy he required, as his insurance did not cover it.

This past year, Nathan has been able to get three speech sessions a week. His language development has exploded. He is much more confident and independent. He still is not able to access as much occupational and physical therapy as he needs. His parents want to make sure Nathan and other children get the therapies they need to be independent.
